Owners of Building and Their Child Injured.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—A young waitress, her fiancé, whom she was to marry this week, and another girl were burned to death today when fire ravaged a five-story fourteenth street tenement building. The victims are Betty Colvin, 21, William Andre, 30, a salesman, her husband-to-be, and Mary Beseda, 21.

The three were trapped in a fifth floor room occupied by the two girls. The man's body was found in a chair and those of the girls in a bed. Their escape had been cut off apparently by a dresser which had been mysteriously placed in front of the door.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hubert, the owners of the building, and their two-year-old child, were slightly burned in making their escape. Several other occupants of the building made their escape unhurt. The fire started on the first floor of the tenement and spread rapidly to the upper apartments.

FARM RELIEF BATTLE OPENS

Senator McNary's New
Bill Faces Thorny Path.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—A new farm relief battle was launched in congress today when Senator McNary (R., O.), sponsored a new $300,000,000 agricultural stabilization bill, with the equalization fee eliminated and the costs financed by the government.

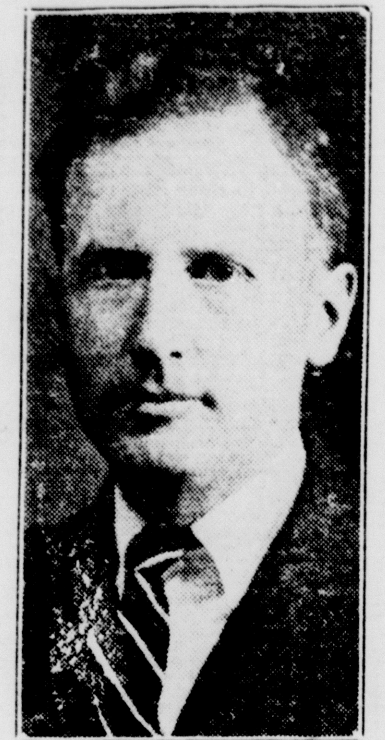

The bill faced a thorny path to enactment as it found both Republican and Democratic forces divided over the political expediency of passing it at the short session. The under-cover struggle by groups within both parties to force a special session after March 4 made the fate of the measure extremely doubtful.

McNary, author of the bill which President Coolidge vetoed a year ago, announced that his new measure had the endorsement of Secretary of Agriculture Jardine but he said nothing about Mr. Coolidge's attitude toward it. The measure would make an outright appropriation of $300,000,000 to aid the farmers, without carrying any provision for raising the funds. This will be in direct opposition to the president's known financial program and probably would be sufficient ground to provoke another veto even with the equalization fee eliminated.

TWO HURT AS $750,000 FIRE SWEEPS LIMA OFFICE BLOCK

Firemen Battle for 12
Hours to Control
Flames.

HELP IS CALLED

Blaze Originates in Basement of Holland Building.

LIMA, O., Dec. 4.—Fire which destroyed the Holland block, a five-story office building at a downtown intersection here, was brought under control at 7 o'clock this morning after firemen had battled the flames for 12 hours. The loss is estimated at $750,000. It was the worst fire in the history of the city.

Two firemen were injured. Bert Smith suffered a badly lacerated leg when he broke in a store window. Paul Fitzgerald was cut and bruised when he slipped from a ladder.

The blaze is believed to have started in the basement of the building many hours before it was discovered as practically every floor was aflame in air shafts.

Six fire companies, the complete personnel of the Lima department and the Wapakoneta department battled the blaze. Four Boy Scout troops assisted police in routing traffic and keeping crowds back.

Business establishments on the ground floor were the heaviest sufferers. Police scooped up jewelry valued at $7,000 from the Windsor jewelry store. Postal telegraph employees succeeded in saving valuable machinery from the office. The building was erected in 1893.

DONALD HUFF DIES IN RING

Pugilist Exonerated in Former Newell Lad's
Death.

SANDUSKY, O., Dec. 4.—Chuck Mangano, Cleveland lightweight fighter, today had been exonerated of responsibility in the death of Donald "Tiger" Huff, 19, who died during a six-round bout with Mangano last Wednesday night.

Coroner A. R. Grierson held that Huff had died of a heart malady and Mangano, who had been at liberty under $5,000 bond, was released.

Huff, a former Newell boy, has been living in Sandusky for seven years. He was born in Newell, his parents at that time living in Grant street.

He has been boxing for the last 18 months. In his fight with Mangano last Wednesday night, Huff did not appear his normal self, although he did not complain. Coming out of a clinch in the sixth round, he collapsed and never recovered.

Funeral services were held Saturday at the Huff home in Sandusky, burial being made in Oakland cemetery there.

NAME COUNCIL OF STATE TO ACT FOR KING

British Ruler Too
Ill to Sign Documents.

CABINET ACTS

Apparently Favorable
Bulletin Issued by Physicians.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—A council of state was appointed today to carry on the duties of the crown because of the protracted illness of King George. Owing to the fact the king is unable to sign state documents, the cabinet decided upon the appointment of a state council to carry on the administration of the government in the name of the king.

Announcement that a state council had been appointed was made in the house of commons by Premier Stanley Baldwin this afternoon.

The appointment was made at a meeting of the Royal privy council at Buckingham palace at noon.

Premier Addresses Commons.

Ordinarily appointment of a council of state is made by proclamation, but this course was not followed today.

In addressing commons Premier Baldwin said:

"I am glad to say that King George was well enough this morning to permit a meeting of the privy council to be held."

News that a state council has been appointed to take over the king's duties did not come as a surprise.

The duration of the council is problematical, depending upon the future progress of the monarch toward recovery.

Increases in Temperature.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—A slight increase in the temperature of King George was noted, although not specifically mentioned, in a bulletin issued at Buckingham Palace at 2:30 this afternoon. It follows:

"The king passed a quiet morning. His temperature is now 100.2. The slight improvement in his general condition noted in the last bulletin is maintained."

LONDON, Dec. 4.—Another apparently favorable bulletin regarding King George's condition was issued by the royal physicians at 10:30 a. m. (Continued on page 8, column 2)

COUNCIL TURNS DOWN PLANNERS' COMMISSION ON HILLTOP PLAT

Legislators Reject Sarah
A. Kinsey Subdivision.

UNANIMOUS VOTE

Action Based on Proposed Abandonment of Alley.

City council last night, for the second time within a year, overruled the planning commission's recommendations for a proposed subdivision in the Northside district.

Without a dissenting vote the Sarah A. Kinsey plat, adjoining the Adam and Craig allotment, west of St. Clair avenue and opposite Riverview cemetery, was rejected because the plans for the tract, as approved by the planners, called for the abandonment of an alley, established many years ago. Six months ago council accepted plat from Adam and Craig, real estate operators, without the approval of the planners.

The vote was recorded after Attorney S. W. Crawford appeared before council to protest against the abandonment of the alley, back of the Edw. E. Kelly property in La Belle avenue. Crawford declared that the planning commission had ignored his request. He said when Kelly purchased the property he had called for an alley at the rear of his property.

Frost-Altman Motion.
Councilman Frost offered the motion that the planning commission's plan be rejected. Councilman Altman seconded it. Councilman Lindell expressed the opinion that the site should be viewed by the streets committee before any action was taken. Councilman Green expressed the same opinion. Altman declared that every member of council had been over the ground last summer when the Adam and Craig controversy arose and that there was no need for further investigation.

Steps looking toward the improvement of Walnut street from St. Clair avenue to Third street by repaving with brick on a concrete base was also taken when a resolution was passed on three readings without a dissenting vote. Another ordinance submitted previously was rejected.

Fred McGillicray, Garfield street, asked a reduction of assessments on a vacant lot running from Garfield street to South alley. He declared that the lot was valued at $250 on the tax duplicate and that the street and sewer assessments against it would total $450. His request was referred to the claims committee.

TWO BILLIONS IN TAXES SEEN

Uncle Sam Will Collect Huge Sum in

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Uncle Sam will collect about $2,171,000,000 income and corporation taxes in 1928, according to estimates prepared at the treasury department today.

The income from this source from January 1 to December 1 was $1,731,000 and approximately $400,000,000 will be collected December 15 at the fourth quarterly tax payment period. The receipts will be slightly less than for the fiscal year ending last June.

After exact figures of the December collection are available Secretary Mellon and Budget Director H. M. Lord will be able to make an accurate estimate of the surplus for June 30. While a small surplus is anticipated the spread between receipts and expenditures will be the smallest since the war.

SUB DESKMAN

Patrolman Norman McFarland is now acting as substitute deskman at police headquarters until Patrolman James Haley takes over the place, made vacant by the retirement of Henry Aufderheide last week. McFarland is the fourth oldest man on the force, having been appointed by Mayor R. J. Marshall on June 21, 1913. Chief McDermott, Patrolman Haley and Desk Sergeant Toland are older in point of service. Before taking the police job, McFarland was a kiln-placer at the Chester plant of the Edwin M. Knowles China company.

Tabernacle Service
Tonight.

PRAYER MEETINGS

Miss Kinney Closes
Bible Class This Week.

With a sermon this afternoon at the Second and Washington streets' tabernacle, Billy Sunday, following a rest yesterday, resumed his evangelistic campaign.

During the morning Mrs. Sunday spoke at a district prayer service in the Orchard Grove Methodist Episcopal church and Miss Florence Kinney in a similar meeting at the Boyce church in East End.

The evangelist will preach at 7:30 tonight.

Among others who are to attend the services are the members of the East Liverpool, Wellsville and Sallenville Kiwanis clubs.

With but two weeks remaining in the series of meetings, interest in them has been given impetus following the large attendance at the tabernacle over the week-end. Attendance at the afternoon services is urged.

Zellenople Seeks Tabernacle.
This, the fifth week of the campaign, will be the final one in which Miss Florence Kinney will continue her Bible class.

"I do not teach in the last week of any campaign," she recently announced, "because of the stress of work in the main activity of the revival." During her appearances in these last lessons she will discuss the Book of Revelations for the most part. It is among the possibilities that the tabernacle may be utilized for a second revival at Zellenople, Pa., where the Rev. Clyde Morse, of Pittsburgh, is planning to begin a series of meetings shortly. During his visit (Continued on page 8, column 2)

NATION'S CHIEF GIVES ACCOUNT OF FIVE-YEAR STEWARDSHIP

Tells Congress Country is Prosperous and Wages are High.

BUSINESS GOOD

Debt Reduced, America
at Peace and Future is Bright.

By George R. Holmes.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—"No congress ever assembled has met with a more pleasing prospect than that which appears at the present time. The country can regard the present with satisfaction and anticipate the future with optimism."

Suma Up State of Union.
Thus plainly and simply, without any flourishes, did Calvin Coolidge sum up the state of the union today in his valedictory report to the congress that goes out of office with him three months hence. He was rendering an account of his five and one-half years' stewardship, as well as peering into the future and he found both views eminently satisfactory.

Never, he said, have the times been better—the country is prosperous to a degree unrivaled in history; wages are high; business is good; taxes have been four times reduced; the national debt is a third paid off; America is at peace with the world; notable steps have been taken to outlaw war; weak and struggling nations have been helped along the road to sovereignty and stability—and nowhere on the horizon of American affairs is there discernible a single dark cloud.

Urges Governmental Economy.
But all this, he warned, can be maintained only by adhering to those policies already marked out—strict governmental economy; no excursions on strange legislative roadways, and "unrelenting" to preserve property at home and tranquility abroad. The president left one solemn warning with congress and the country. It was this: "Watch your spending." Time and again he returned to his favorite theme of economy. He admonished congress against going on any appropriation spree, and said if it did it meant a deficit and an unbalanced budget.

"I am certain," he said, "that the congress would not pass and I should (Continued on page 8, column 3)

Gordon Northcott Leads Way After Admitting Murders.

VICTORVILLE, Calif., Dec. 4.—Having confessed to the slaying of five small boys out of a total of nine asserted victims of the Wineville "Murder Farm," Gordon Stewart Northcott early today led a party of officers into the Mojave desert in search of graves which may possible contain the bodies of all or some of the murdered youths.

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Dec. 4.—Following a dramatic recital of brutality that rivals anything in fiction, Gordon Stewart Northcott today stood out as the most astounding criminal in the history of southern California.

In a voice deadly calm, the young rancher, who is only 21 years old, last night confessed to officers that nine youths were slain at his Wineville chicken ranch, and that he himself had killed five of them.

Sanford Clark, his 15-year-old nephew, whose story of mistreatment and murder of boys brought about Northcott's arrest in Canada and extradition to California, killed a sixth boy, according to Northcott. He refused to say who killed the other three.

Shop Early

Three weeks from today, old and young will greet Santa Claus, the harbinger of happiness.

Thus thoughts of little children as well as persons older in years but youthful in the outlook on life, are turned definitely toward Christmas day.

As preparations are made for the visit of Santa Claus, let the spirit of gladness and thoughtfulness enter into the selection of gifts and the mailing of them to relatives and friends in distant cities.

East Liverpool's merchants are ready to cater to the desires of their customers. The stores are loaded with gifts of the season, appropriate to every age. Diversified stock are fresh, while in every way early December is the most desirable time to give impetus to the Santa Claus urge.

With but 18 shopping days before Christmas, it is not too early to visit the stores. Cooperate with the clerks by partnering with Santa Claus now and thus avoid frenzied buying at the last minute.

And, too, remember the "early bird" advantage in mailing. It means less likelihood of lost packages, providing postal admonitions regarding addresses, etc., are heeded.

Shop early and mail early.

Triumph Over Leprosy

The United States public health service in Washington has announced that John Early, the North Carolina mountaineer whose repeated escapes from leper colonies have occasioned the greatest anxiety on the part of health officials, has recovered from leprosy.

The announcement hails Early's case as "another triumph in modern medicine," and credits the mountaineer's "eccentricities" with having contributed much to the passage of the law placing lepers under care of the public health service and to awakening public interest in the leprosy problem in this country.

Early, who once resisted with a rifle efforts to confine him in the National Leper home at Carville, Louisiana, where he recovered, will return this month to his home in the mountains near Tyron, North Carolina, free from the diseases, but carrying its scars. Microscopic tests of his blood and tissues show that the disease has "arrested." It was announced that "there is scant danger of a relapse, as since 1921 only one recovered leper discharged from the Carville institution by the public health service has suffered a recurrence of the disease."

The health service's announcement states that Early's recovery was brought about by the injection of chaulmoogra oil. Up until a year ago, these injections caused excruciating pain to the patient for several hours, but a new method of administration by mixing a harmless anesthetic with each dose was developed and Early, along with the other patients at Carville, welcomed the improved method.

When one stops to consider the ignominy, and pain, and suffering, and deaths this horrible malady has caused, what limit can be placed upon the credit and honor due to the scientists who have labored for years to the end that they might find for a cure and whose labors have finally been crowned with success?

Nicaraguan Securities

It is pleasing to note that both the state department and the White House are opposed to any plan under or by reason of which the United States would pledge itself to guarantee the political and financial stability of Nicaragua.

In the order named, both Secretary Kellogg and President Coolidge have made plain that they disapproved of any and all proposals that the United States government should supervise the finances of Nicaragua in order to assure that country an American loan, or for any other purpose.

The position of President Coolidge, and that of Secretary Kellogg is practically the same, is reported from Washington to be that, although it is realized that when American citizens invest their money they want some strong guarantee of security, yet it ought not be suggested that this government should be required to intervene or take a direct part in supervision of such transactions.

It looks very much as though New York banking interests will have to forego hope of getting Uncle Sam to aid them in disposing of Nicaraguan securities to the public at a profitable commission by standing as a guarantor for their collection. Contrary to all insinuations and charges to such effect during the recent campaign, the administration has not sold out to Wall Street.

Motor-driven Ship Speed

The 589-foot United States naval aircraft carrier, Lexington, established a new world record for speed and power developed by large motor-driven ships, off Santa Cruz island, when she developed 210,000 horsepower and attained a speed of 34.5 knots, which is about 40 land miles an hour.

The greatest power previously developed aboard a ship was 161,000 horsepower by the British battle-cruiser, Hood, in 1920.

It will be recalled that the Lexington traveled 2,228 miles from San Pedro to Honolulu, last June, in 72 hours and 34 minutes, a record run. On the third day of that famous trip she did 770 miles, bettering the previous day's run of 690 nautical miles by the light cruiser, Omaha, in 1923. The best day's run of a merchant ship is the 676 nautical miles made by the Cunarder, Mauretania, in 1911.

At the height of her test, the Lexington consumed 25,000 gallons of fuel oil an hour and used 3,000 gallons of distilled water in her boilers, which gives an insight into the why of the high cost of passage in the fast liners plying between this country and Europe. Speed in excess of 18 knots an hour costs out of all proportion to speed below that mark, the cost going up by leaps and bounds for each knot.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—The most effective and aggressive program of patriotic activity in its history is now under full swing in the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, as an answer to the recent objections which resulted in ousting two members of the society for opposing the patriotic work of the other 165,000 members.

It is remarkable how a little internal disturbance, attracting a goodly measure of newspaper publicity, has spurred the great women's patriotic society into action. The national offices at Memorial Continental hall, in Washington, are a hive of industry. While workmen are active day and night constructing the new Constitution hall, the two million dollar addition to the headquarters group, the D. A. R. officers are equally busy in their present quarters with their revived drive for patriotic education, national defense, resistance to communism and pacifism, and upbuilding of the D. A. R. as a national center for the perpetuation of national ideals.

Completion of Constitution hall, one of the finest buildings at the national capital, for dedication when the national D. A. R. congress meets in April.

Marking the National Old Trails road, from coast to coast, and erecting handsome stone monuments to the pioneer mother in each of the twelve states traversed by the famous highway.

Completing the financing for a woman's dormitory at Oxford college, part of Miami university, at Oxford, O., the alma mater of Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, first president General of the D. A. R.

Preparing for a National Defense conference of thirty-three women's organizations to be held at Washington, January 29, 30, and 31 next.

Arranging to unveil, on the grounds of Continental Memorial hall, a statue by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney to the four women who were responsible for the original organization of the D. A. R., Miss Mary Desha, Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood, Mrs. Ellen Hardin Walworth, and Miss Eugenia Washington.

These are all special activities outside of the regular work of the national officers. Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, president-general, is carrying forward a steady organizing and speaking campaign, having visited all but three of the states in the union, as well as several D. A. R. chapters in foreign countries. Mrs. Sherman Walker, vice president general and chairman of the National defense committee, who has been a storm center in the patriotic work of the organization, is steadily increasing her activities in fighting radical and pacifist movements with educational facts about the American form of government. Mrs. Lowell F. Hobart, organizing secretary general, is using the awakened enthusiasm of the D. A. R. membership as a basis for steady development of new chapters and increasing membership.

The D. A. R. paid off, last June, a bond issue of a million dollars against its new and modern Constitution hall before the cornerstone of the building had actually been laid. The two million dollar building project, undertaken a few years ago with some doubt and trepidation for membership, has proved much less of a burden than anticipated. While the whole cost has not yet been provided, the response has been so great as to permit the rapid pushing of the construction, and to give assurance that the society can complete the finest group of buildings in the world owned strictly by women, without undue burden of debt.

"We are accused of being too patriotic," exclaimed President-General Brosseau to this correspondent during a visit paid to the D. A. R. headquarters to observe the activities going forward there. "We are attacked as being super-patriots. Our answer has been to extend our patriotic efforts wherever possible. We offer no apology for upholding the finest traditions of our country and our heritage. We are chided for opposing the communists and pacifists and other subversive forces which aim to destroy the nation which our forefathers set up. We have redoubled our opposition to these forces."

Mrs. Brosseau is especially proud of the great number of votes cast by women at the last national election. The D. A. R. takes no part in partisan politics, but it carried on a nation-wide effort to persuade every citizen to register and vote, and is confident that it had a useful part in getting a greatly increased number of women voters to the polls. This tangible result of its work for political education has encouraged further efforts along the line of enlightened citizenship. Its Americanism schools for new citizens and other aids to naturalization, and its insistence on rigid immigration laws are to be continued this coming year.

In the approaching fight in congress over the navy building program, the D. A. R. forces will again be on the side of adequate preparedness. The society has been strong in support of the Kellogg-Brand multilateral treaty for outlawing war, and will maintain its position in support of the ratification of that treaty. The D. A. R. view is the same as that expressed by President Coolidge, a great hope in the treaty as a means of preventing war, but an acknowledgment that such hope does not eliminate the need for an adequate preparedness for the national defense.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Not every small town girl, casting her lot in the theatrical and cabaret world of Broadway, scots to hell in a handbasket. There are many detours along the primrose path and they are frequently taken by those who see pitfalls ahead.

Broadway places a premium on beauty. But a higher premium on parity. Ruby Keeler, for instance, fresh with girlish loveliness, came out of Nova Scotia to tap dance in what was perhaps the most notorious of the night clubs — one eventually closed by constant padlockings.

Even the White Way was impressed with her obvious detachment from her sordid surroundings. She was one of "those little girls" faded night birds were asked nightly "to give a great big hand." Her talent won her feature honors in first rate musical and vaudeville shows and on the screen.

And it was in the hectic night resort she met one of the richest and certainly about the most popular actor on Broadway—Al Jolson. It is recent first page news she became his bride.

Not many years ago a beautiful chorus girl at the Hippodrome suffered an illness that left her blind.

She was affianced to a talented artist of the comic strips, Jack Callahan, before her affliction and today they are happily married, their rare devotion being one of the legends of Broadway. And there is, of course, the romance of Irving Berlin.

He came up to the Bingo-Bango land of Tin Pan Alley from a sawdust dive in Chinatown where he was a singing waiter. Yet he lived cleanly and decently. His gentlemanly shyness and talent led indirectly to his marriage to one of America's most beautiful heiresses. Such instances are numerous.

All of which is convincing enough that the young men and women of Broadway who behave themselves and are not beguiled by its sham pleasures need not fear being defiled by the pitch. Broadway itself may have no code of morals, but it bends a respectful knee to those who have.

Noel Coward seems the most engaging actor England has sent to America. Not yet 30 he is London's fair haired boy and is likely to duplicate his popularity on Broadway. He is now clicking in a hit revue for which he wrote the book, lyrics and

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

In olden times if a man was under the weather he would say, "My liver is out of order." That was the common complaint.

The poor old liver was held responsible for half the symptoms suffered by the human family. The fact is that overeating, lack of exercise and neglect of the simplest rules of hygiene have more to do with the origin of these symptoms than with any actual trouble with the liver.

I think I recited to you once a funny limerick I heard somewhere. If my memory serves it ran as follows: "A jaundiced young gent in an attic Once thought he had trouble hepatic. He bought him a flivver Which shook up his liver And now he's mentally ecstatic."

You know the kind of a day you have once in a while. You go about your affairs, cross and sullen. You have a chip on your shoulder and fairly ache for a fight. You are blue and distressed, imagining all sorts of terrible things about the future. You even wonder if you have lost your friends and possibly your religion.

When this occurs what has happened? Is the world out of joint, or is there something actually wrong with you?

My observation of the world and its inhabitants is that they do not change much overnight. It takes a long, long time to reorganize society. If you take this view, too, you must realize that the world hasn't gone to smash. On the contrary, the trouble is that you are temporarily out of step with the world.

The young man of the limerick lived in a dark and unventilated attic, loafing and sleeping. He was eating poorly prepared and badly selected food. Naturally he suffered the results of his wrong living. I am not surprised he thought his liver was out of order.

Perhaps you, too, spend part of your time in an attic. At least you live an attic life. You neglect exercise, fresh air and simple food. Your sleep is disturbed, your head aches, you are weak in your knees and imagine vain things. You diagnose your ailment as "liver complaint."

Driving a flivver over a rough road, driving a frisky horse, rowing a boat, regular tennis or golf, or just getting out-of-doors for real work or a long walk—any one of these will "shake up the liver" and promote your health.

There are just two days to feel well, and both are founded on the same thing. The heart must be stimulated to beat a few times more each minute. This can be accomplished by energetic exercise. It can be accomplished by enthusiastic interest in your daily work.

To feel well, then, you must have exercise or enthusiasm. To feel twice as well you should have both.

2. What do you advise for a stomach condition which has persisted for quite a while?

A.—Probably due to a circulatory disturbance. Build up your general health. Changing the shoes and stockings frequently is often helpful for perspiring feet. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Westward, the Course of Empire.

On the basis of the convincing defeats administered by Pacific Coast to eastern and midwestern football teams in this year's intersectional games, it looks as if the best football in the country is now played in the far west. New York university after defeating Carnegie Tech Oregon Aggies, Army, with the hoisted Eagle and all, was no match for Stanford, while Notre Dame lost to Southern California by a two-touchdown margin.

This far western football strength is not a flash in the pan. For several years the coast teams have given an excellent account of themselves in the intersectional games and have enjoyed the reputation of being as strong as the stroughest in the east and Big Ten. This year's results seem to indicate that they are now in a class by themselves.

If there is any single explanation for this it is probably connected with the coast climatic condition which not only affords favorable conditions for practice, but in the opinion of many observers, makes also for a harder race. It can hardly be a coincidence that so many star backs have appeared in recent years in California.

And to other favorable conditions the Pacific Coast institutions have added one other factor making for excellent teams in drafting some of the best coaches of the country. Warner of Stanford and Howard Jones of Southern California stand out with Rockne and Roper and one or two others as leaders in the coaching profession.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Learn to Control Movement.

You tip things over and kick up the corners to breaking things.

You think you are careful, but the first you know something has slipped from your grasp and is broken.

You distribute ink spots wherever you go.

You tip things over and kick up the corners of the rugs.

You hit things against the water faucets and mar the varnish on the stairs.

You can't serve yourself or anyone else without getting drops of food or liquid on the table linen or on your own clothes.

A thousand and one annoying things can be laid at your door.

It makes you an unwelcome guest and a pest in your own home.

But what is the reason?

Isn't it a certain impulsiveness?

You dash at everything with too much energy.

You have not reined yourself in control of personal movements.

Have you ever tried to keep a steady hand?

Focus your thoughts on what you are doing and how to do it exactly.

Don't let destructiveness grow, when controlling care is a cure.

It is possible to get a better grasp on yourself, but it will not be an easy thing to do.

Pain Ends Quick When Rheumatic Poisons Go

You don't want to be rheumatic and suffer all the rest of your life. Then don't let your blood remain filled with the poisons that get into your joints and muscles causing inflammation and terrible torture.

That's where so many people make a mistake. They take something that deadens pain for a short time but soon it is back worse than ever, because the poisons are still there and until you drive them out you'll never get completely rid of your rheumatic aches and pains.

A simple doctor prescription that will do more for you than anything you have ever tried called Rheuma acts directly on the poisons in the blood stream in such a way that often only one bottle completely drives every bit of poison from the system. And when poisons go pain stops just as suddenly as it started, swellings reduce and not a sign or twinge remains to remind you that you ever suffered from the terrible agony of rheumatism.

Matthews Med. Store and every good druggist sells Rheuma and it must completely end all Rheumatism, Sciatica and Gout or you get your money back.

When You Feel Tired And Worn Out, Your Blood May Need Iron.

Doctors Say It Is Dangerous to Neglect a Run-Down Condition.

It is not natural to feel all tired out and vigorless except after violent manual labor or exercise. When such a condition exists without apparent reason, it is generally Nature's way of telling you that the system is run down and needs attention. Usually it indicates lack of iron in the blood and if allowed to continue, makes it easy for you to contract dangerous diseases that take hold when resistance is low. For years, doctors have prescribed an iron tonic for this condition, but the iron must be in a form that is easily taken into the blood. Iron-tone Tonic, now on sale here, is absolutely guaranteed to tone up the system or your money back. It acts upon the nerves, liver, stomach, kidneys, intestines and blood, purifying the system. Get a bottle of Iron-tone today.

Fog Balks Richard James' Flight for $1,000 Prize.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 4.—Following two unsuccessful attempts to get through the wall of fog and the "low ceiling" east of here, Richard E. James, 17-year-old solo pilot brought his plane to earth at 11:15 a. m. today and grimly prepared for another take-off.

This time, James said, he will wait until weather bulletins from the U. S. weather observatory here indicate that visibility above the hills east of here has improved.

Preceded by Martin Jensen, his guiding pilot, James took off in his Travelair biplane, "Spirit of American Youth," for Bellefonte, Pa., at 4:30 a. m. In quest of the $1,000 prize offered for the first boy or girl to complete a cross-country aerial dash. Five minutes later, unaccompanied, he circled to earth, declaring fog conditions to the east were "fierce."

Jensen did not return. Officials at the field here assumed that the more experienced pilot kept on through the fog wall and made a safe landing at Bellefonte.

James Heckthorn appeared in behalf of a petition signed by dozens of officers whose members averaged more than 700 persons, under an ordinance requiring the heating of office, hotel and mercantile buildings during cold weather. The ordinance which Heckthorn submitted would require the temperature of public buildings be maintained at not less than 68 degrees Fahrenheit, from 6 a. m. to 10 p. m. Detectives last night intimated they had a "lead" on the slayer and "certain information" regarding the motive for the crime but today would not elaborate on either.

Miss Keough was murdered by repeated blows upon her head with a brick. Bits of brick were found imbedded in her scalp but that the woman had fought desperately for life was indicated by Coroner John F. Terrence, who stated death had not been instantaneous following the attack.

Coolidge Message

not feel warranted in approving legislation which would involve us in that financial disgrace."

That was tantamount to saying that even if congress does exceed the speed limit on spending at this lame-duck session, he will apply the brakes with veto.

10,000-word Message. Nowhere in the nearly ten thousand words that comprised this last aid message from Calvin Coolidge did he mention his own impending retirement, nor the administration that will succeed him after March 4. There was not even a hint, nor an indirect reference to the campaign and its momentous results.

Mr. Coolidge merely rendered an account of his own stewardship, and accompanied it with some general observations about the future conduct of the business much as a chairman of a board of directors might do at any annual meeting. He reported that the Pan-American conference at Havana last winter was successful; he told about sending the marines to Nicaragua, and how they established order and procured a fair presidential election; he said Chile and Peru were patching up their differences over Tacna-Arica; he declared, with obvious satisfaction, that relations with Mexico are better than they have been since the Madero revolution; he said recognition had been extended to the Nationalist government in China and that things were on the up there; he suggested that congress be generous in dealing with the Austrian and Greek debts; and finally he recommended the prompt ratification of the Kellogg anti-war treaty.

"The observance of this covenant, so simple and straightforward," he said of the Kellogg treaty, "promises more for the peace of the world than any other agreement ever negotiated among the nations."

Turns to Domestic Affairs

Then, turning to domestic affairs, he urged congress to pass the new cruiser bill, designed to overcome the navy's lack of fast, modern cruisers; and the World War veterans were being well cared for and warned against any much greater outlay of money on this score; said agriculture was getting better and that the government should continue to aid in such way as it could without "going into business;" reported fine progress in the development of commercial aviation; proposed for the fifth straight year that congress do something about facilitating railroad consolidation; urged that the government encourage highway development into the Central American republics on the south; endorsed extension of the air mail service to the region, too; declared the heavy expenditures entailed in the rivers and harbors work, and, after endorsing the Boulder Dam development in general terms, left it to congress.

Reference to Prohibition. Going on, he dealt with a variety of smaller problems, and on prohibition had this to say: "The country has duly adopted the Eighteenth amendment. Those who object to it have the right to advocate its modification or repeal. Meanwhile, it is binding upon the national and state government and all our inhabitants. The federal enforcement bureau is making every effort to prevent violation. Under the terms of the constitution, however, the obligation is equally on the state to exercise the power which they have through the executive, legislative, judicial and police branches of their governments in behalf of enforcement."

He concluded with a warning to the country not to become slothful and selfish "in the midst of an era of prosperity more extensive and of peace more permanent than it has even before experienced."

CONGRESS HITS RADIO BOARD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—With congress but two days old, the Federal Radio commission came under fire today when Senator Dill (D) of Washington, co-author of the present law, sponsored an amendment designed to end the general interference caused by powerful broadcasting stations. Dill proposed that all broadcasting stations should be limited to 10,000 watts from midnight until 6 a. m.—the hours when radio fans seek distant stations. COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 4.—Inaugural plans, legislative policies and contemplated appointment of additional members of Governor-elect Myers Y. Cooper's cabinet were to be discussed at a conference here late today between Cooper and Harry D. Silver, Eaton, who managed the recent Republican state campaign.

A tentative program for the inauguration of Cooper here on Monday, January 14, next, subject to Cooper's approval, includes a big parade in the forenoon, the inaugural ceremony involving the administration of the oath of office, followed by Cooper's inaugural address and a public reception in the state house rotunda for the new governor and other recently-elected state officials; a banquet at night accompanied by another reception for the new state officials.

It was authoritatively indicated today that Cooper and his intimate advisers will take no hand in the various contests now on for house speaker, senate and house floor leaders and other positions to be filled at the forthcoming legislative caucuses other than to exert all possible influence to see that the persons selected are in sympathy with such legislative policies that Cooper may have.

LITTLE CHATS ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

The subject of blood pressure—either high or low—is a very important one as it is estimated that about 30% of persons above 27 years of age are subject to disturbances from this cause.

There are various drugs known to physicians which lower the blood pressure, yet the effects of such drugs are not permanent since they do not relieve the real underlying cause of the trouble.

For that reason you should not purchase remedies advertised to correct high blood pressure unless your physician recommends them for your use.

You are always safest in going to your doctor for advice whenever medical help is needed.

When Food Sours

Sweeten the stomach—instantly

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been overstimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

COMPLICATION OF AILMENTS YIELD TO NEW KONJOLA

Years of Agonizing Pain and Nervousness Find First And Only Conquerer in Master Medicine

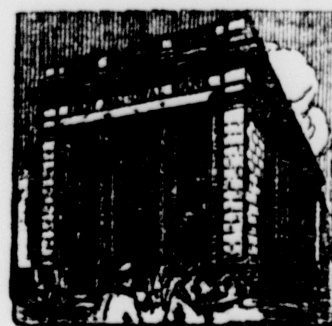

"I am lost in amazement at what this splendid Konjola did for my stomach and kidney trouble and nervousness and did I not have the actual experience myself I would have doubted that one single medicine could bring such results," said Mrs. Lila Huber, 13 Ridgeway avenue, Dayton, Ohio.

"For many years I had stomach and kidney disorders that dragged my health down to such a level that I was well nigh a nervous wreck. I had to get up many times at night, pains pierced my back and I had dizzy spells. My food did not digest and gas pains were almost too much to bear after each meal. I became so weak I could just walk, that was all. A friend urged me to take Konjola. I started this medicine and immediately knew I had found an honest remedy. It relieved me right from the beginning. My stomach and kidneys were regulated and strengthened so that the sensations caused by them disappeared. My appetite is fine. I eat anything. Sleep that restores strength and vitality is mine. That is what Konjola does for all sufferers. Do you blame me for endorsing it?"

Konjola is sold in East Liverpool, O., at Carnahan's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

IS IT YOUR BUSINESS —OR OURS?

Suppose the Stock Fire Insurance companies had not forced fire prevention.

Suppose they had followed the selfish principle that, no matter how great the destruction of property, rates could be adjusted accordingly.

What then would have been America's record of loss by fire?

Frightful enough it is—in spite of the efforts of the Stock Fire Insurance companies, working through the National Board of Fire Underwriters and its departments of Building Construction, Public Fire Protection, Engineering, the Arson Bureau, Underwriters' Laboratories, and other avenues of activity.

The reduction of the fire waste or the loss of life by fire is not primarily an insurance problem. The Stock Fire Insurance companies must charge for insurance on a basis sufficient to cover losses and operating expenses.

Therefore—viewing the situation from their selfish interests only—they need be no more concerned than are other industries in working toward a reduction of the fire waste.

However, for the welfare of the country as a whole the 229 Stock Fire Insurance companies which transact the great bulk of the fire insurance business voluntarily undertook the task of heading up the forces opposed to the destruction of life and property by fire.

The results have been encouraging. People are building better. Obvious hazards are being removed. But there is pressing need for further improvement.

Future progress in this work depends largely upon the degree of cooperation extended by you and others in the use of available safety devices and measures, and in the elimination of the many known hazards which continue to threaten life and property.

Johnny Risko, of Cleveland, who was outpointed by Jim Maloney in Boston, has accepted terms for a bout at the Garden on Dec. 21 against either Maloney or Con O'Kelly, the imported Irish heavyweight.

Griffiths also has been matched for a bout on the 21st. It is expected that Nando Tassi, of Italy, will be pitted against the sensational Sioux City, Iowa, fighter.

JOHNNY DUNDEE GIVEN SETBACK

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 4.—Johnny Dundee's campaign to fool father time by regaining the pugilistic heights has suffered a setback. The former featherweight champion showed only a flash of his old time form against the youthful Jackie Pilkington of New York in a ten-round bout here last night and lost the decision.

Many new auto bus lines are being operated in England.

Paolino May be no Champion But He Makes 'Em Look Awful

Can't Get Any Place Himself But He Stops a Lot of Other Guys From Moving Up.

By Frank G. Menke.

Paolino, the handspring lumber cuter from the other lands, may not be going anywhere himself—except to riches—but neither is anybody else who tries conclusions with him.

"Ooksie," perhaps, never will be the champion, but neither will anybody who tries to hurdle his squatly frame in a leap for the top. For "Ooksie" is one of those gifted humans who can—and does—make all former look bad either in defeat or in victory.

"Fight Paolino and you're just about washed up," say the boys in the shadows of ringdom.

"Ooksie" has taken on about all the gladiators now in the racket—and what did it get them? Nothing except a beating or quite a few demerits even if they won from his via fair means or the fouling of "Ooksie." They all look bad when they are mixing it with the reformed axe swinger of the Pyrenees.

Clever boxers have hooked up with "Ooksie" and when the last shot had been fired the hot polloi sneered at the "clever boxer" stuff. For the rushing, ripping, tearing, tactics of "Ooksie" made those boxers back up so much to escape being run over, that they looked more like escaping refugees than skillful gladiators.

Men who were famous as larpers have met "Ooksie" and banded "Ooksie"—but it got "em" nothing. Whoever it was that designed "Ooksie" gave him a jaw of steel and a body protected by 15-inch oaken planks.

They have hit him and rattled so many punches off his chin and mid-section that it sounded as if somebody was playing a tattoo on an anvil with a heavy hammer. "Ooksie" should have gone down and remained there, but "Ooksie" simply took what the boys gave him, blinked his eyes, smiled blandly and then nearly chased the other fellow out of the ring by way of reprisal.

Ask anybody who never has fought "Ooksie" and they'll all tell you "he is a sucker for a left jab, peaches and cream for a left hook and an unmissable target for a right cross or a rip to the body." But when you ask those who have fought him, they take on a look that is wan and weary and they try to change the subject and discourse on more pleasant things.

Magnates Awaiting Huggins

May Try to Sell Him Some Talent for Next Season.

By Davis J. Walsh.

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 4.—Everybody had done approximately nothing with great perseverance for the last twenty-four hours, so they retired to the lounge this morning for a much needed rest while awaiting the arrival of the early morning train bearing the mail, the milk and Miller Huggins. The latter, sole proprietor of the only fountain pen in baseball that starts writing spontaneously and without reluctance, was expected to inject the spice of life into the impending convention of the national association of professional baseball leagues.

It is men like Mr. Huggins who make life worth the tremendous effort involved in living it. He isn't satisfied with a word's championship ball club that won its title in the minimum number of four games with a maximum number of base hits. He is all for tearing that club up and blowing some of the pieces hence, "Greetings Club" on duty.

The greetings club, an organization inspired by some lofty purpose which, unfortunately, I have forgotten, will not be found wanting in this emergency. Among the greeters on duty will be Billy Evans and Roger Peckinpaugh of the Cleveland club; Bob Quinn, of Boston; Dan Howley, of St. Louis, and a lot of other guys who are sure they can do Mr. Huggins no good in a big broad way. It is my understanding that the Cleveland outfit means to bludge him with fair words about George Uhle, the pitcher who forgets to win ball games every other year. In the course of events the 1929 season would be one in which George's memory was due to function again. But, Cleveland is not committed to philanthropy. It wants something, even for a memory.

The meeting will afford Huggins his first chance to talk to Quinn about the proposed New York Boston trade. The Yankee manager once said that he was willing to sacrifice Bob Meusel to get the man he wanted. At that time, it was suspected that he was referring to Charley Ruffing, but now the understanding is that Ed Morris is the young man in question. Dugan, Robertson, Pat Collins, Grabowski and Gazella are believed to be employees who are definitely on the block. Meusel merely was mentioned by way of showing the extent of Huggins' concern for the future welfare of the ball club.

Lot of This May Happen. Another optimistic note was sounded with the expected arrival of Stanley Harris, the new Detroit manager. Mr. Harris is a very avid tracer when he is convinced that he is about to get no worse than the better of it.

Deals with the minor leagues are much more readily and effectively consummated, as a matter of fact, and with full representations from the International Association and Western League on hand and a scattering of others from the Coast League, Texas league, and Southern association, a lot of things may happen.

Meantime Mike Kelly, Minneapolis manager, had declared himself back in as manager of the club, thereby reversing himself on the decision he made early in the fall.

The association declared for its draft regulations to remain as is and appointed the veteran Joe Cantillon as umpire-in-chief at a salary of $5,000 a year.

SCULLY MEMBER OF TITLE SQUAD

The victory over Marquette High on Thanksgiving Day was the ninth consecutive victory for the "Campan Knights" and gave them the championship in the Wisconsin Catholic League. Few high schools in the country are able to boast of a record similar to that achieved by Coach Hoffman's squad.

Campan contended with some of the most powerful teams in three states. Teams otherwise unbeaten such as Edgewood of Madison, Wis., St. Ambrose of Davenport, Iowa; Columbia of Dubuque, Iowa; Pio Nono and Marquette High of Milwaukee and Spalding Institute of Peoria, Ill. Only one team scored upon Campan and that was Pio Nono of Milwaukee. Against that one and lonely marker of her adversaries, Campan offers the striking record of 275 points for the season.

In thinking of her backfield, Campan may rightly call them her "four horsemen" for in Cameron, Radke, Scully (East Liverpool) and Walsh, Coach Hoffman has presented us with a backfield whose combined points score equals 212 points. The line work of Pfefferle brothers, Cosgrove, Mulhern, Schaffner, Averill and O'Connell will ever be a high standard in Campan grid activities.

Mayberry Defeats Larson

Wallace Wins; Mitchell is Knockout Victor.

Despite the fact that he gave away three and a half pounds, which is a lot for the little fellows, Howard Mayberry, Donora, Pa., outpointed Sator Larson, Chicago, in the eight-round feature event on the Valley A. C. card last night at Wellsville.

That makes Mayberry one-up on the Windy City tar, the standing having been even until last night's engagement, their third within a year.

Judging from their performance last night, as well as their efforts in previous bouts, these two pugilists apparently could continue the series indefinitely without serious damage to either one. Each packs a lusty wallop but, in last night's milling, neither Mayberry nor Larson was able to do anything with it outside of two or three occasions when a chance opening presented itself.

Larson came in three pounds over weight, the pair being matched at 120 pounds.

That both worked like Trojans during the bout, especially in the closing rounds, could not be denied but the defensive capabilities of the duet was such that definite, clean-cut punching was a scarce article.

Mayberry took five rounds, Larson two and one was even. Larson got off to an early lead when he reached Mayberry in the first round and again in the third but the Donora bantam from there on had a distinct edge.

The Chicagoan steamed a hard right to Mayberry's head in the initial stanza that rocked the Pennsylvania but failed to leave any noticeable effect. They blocked and clinched repeatedly in the second, which was even, but a hard right uppercut that snapped Mayberry's head back gave the third to the sailor.

From the fourth on Mayberry jabbed Larson repeatedly with his left, using his right at times in hard swings to the head.

Larson missed a lot of punches and took one on the jaw in the eighth that dazed him for a few seconds.

Young Billy Wallace of Youngstown, meeting Frankie Moran, of Donora, the latter substituting for Tony Moran, the latter who injured a hand several days ago in training, earned a shade over the Pennsylvania in the six-round semi-final.

Defense tactics were overemphasized by the pair, particularly Moran who clinched and tied up the Youngtownier repeatedly—too much, in fact, to make a battle out of it.

Ray Mitchell, East Liverpool junior welter, knocked out Cliff Harber, Wellsville colored boxer, in the third round of their scheduled four-round fight.

Mitchell got to Harber with a flock of gloves in the second canto, flooring the Wellsville lad as the bell rang at the end of the round. Harber stayed off impending disaster for a minute, or so of the third round but Mitchell got to his jaw again to stretch the Wellsville purist on the canvas.

Young Pizzone, Wellsville bantam, and Tony Lee, recently of Detroit, staged a great glove festival in the four-round preliminary. Pizzone floored Lee three times but Lee's superior boxing earned him a draw. The bout was marked by action from the first round to the last.

Al Watson, Beaver Falls, refereed. Five minutes after being stung on the hand by a wasp, Mrs. Eliza Earley, 49, of Reading, England, collapsed and died.

Thrilling story of love of two girls for the same man

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

"But I don't care if he isn't the right one—he's the one I want, Flora—nobody else!"

"Have some sense!" Flora groaned, "get over it—"

"But Flora—"

"Daphne, keep still, let me talk. I'll tell you—you aren't the only fool in love with the wrong man—the woods are full of them..."

"Her voice dropped, her pale, light eyes—'fish eyes'—Miss Viola called them, grew wide and dreamy, and infinitely sad..."

"But we don't die of broken hearts... we go on living, going through the motions, pretending to have a good time. Maybe we do eventually... sometimes I think I do..."

"He didn't love you?" Daphne asked timidly.

Flora studied her large, reddish hands. Bit off a hang nail. "Didn't look like it."

"He was an artist," she said finally. "I don't know whether he was any good or not, anyway he was poor. He did a little work for the paper I worked on in Reno, where we used to live. I never did tell you about home, did I?"

"It was a tall white house, near the railway tracks. Pa was Irish and Ma was Swedish, that's where I got my Swede hair and my Irish name. Pa was a plasterer, good money, but he didn't always choose to work. So we had a couple of boarders."

"She made Daphne see it so clearly, the little frame house by the track, the mother who was a slattern, the father who was only good natured when he was drunk. The nights when they sent her, a long-legged, pie-tailed child, for beer in a can, and McCardle and the roomers played cards, stud-poker and pinochle, until daylight broke through the drawn shades, and some of the players were under the table. The days full of scolding and bickering, with the children squabbling and the house full of snoring men who worked on the trains at night."

"There was always a colicky baby yelling, and a couple of toddlers swinging on the gate with mashpotatoes and jam on their mugs... oh! What started me on my family?"

"I started to tell you about the artist... but there isn't much to tell. I put in about four years of my life loving him, and sneaking off nights to meet him, and Ma wondering why I didn't bring my young man home."

"And then he got a pretty good job on a paper back in Kansas City, and I spent six months watching for the mail man."

"When the big envelope came the whole family stood around watching while I opened it—that's the kind of privacy we had in our home—and there it was. 'Mr. and Mrs. Truman Barker—(I'll never forget the name!) announce the marriage of their daughter Leona—to him, of course."

"I can see me yet, getting red in the face, and starting in to express herself, and me pulling myself together, pretending I didn't care, and knew all along. I did it so well I ate corn beef and cabbage for dinner, to show my appetite. I can still feel that corn beef going down—blum!"

"She caught at her throat, laughing, and pretending to choke."

"He married a girl he met there? Oh Flora!" Daphne's arms were out, comforting, but Flora was herself again, laughing uproariously, beating the billows—

"You're right he did. And went into a bank, and stopped being an artist. I like to think of him behind a case, getting bald and losing his shape. I hope he has twins too—no, triplets!"

"Well, anyway, it showed me," Flora finished, "what a fool a woman can make of herself. Well, I beat it for the big city after that, and here I am, with a good job, and more dates than you can shake a stick at. There's nothing like a busted heart to make you, or break you—it sure made me—"

"I think it would break me," Daphne murmured, half to herself.

"Oh rats, Daphne!"

"It would—"

"If you don't give me a pain in the neck! Listen—you aren't meaning to indicate that your happiness is all bound up in Ralph Iverson McKevitt, and you don't care what a lemon he is—"

"I don't care how bad he is, or what he does—I love him."

"Even if he marries that Garroly girl?"

Daphne nodded, unable to speak.

"Oh! Flora growled.

The battered alarm clock on the dresser ticked on and on, in the silence. "I suppose I had better go, and let you get some sleep," Daphne said finally.

Flora called her back, as she was opening the door. "Mind you I am all against this McKevitt business, but if your foot heart is set on it—count on me! I'm a pretty fair fixer—of other people's troubles!"

And just as the milkmen rattled up to the Huckle's door, Daphne's eyes closed in their first troubled sleep, Ralph Iverson McKevitt left Crystal's apartment on California street.

"Four o'clock! The idea of the girl, getting me out of bed, and keeping me so late... I'll have to raise some real money in the morning!" He felt in his empty pockets. He'd given her his last cent.

But he was happy as he drove home through the silent streets. Kind of nice to have a beautiful girl like Crystal, crazy about you, and telling you all her little troubles.

"Have to see her often," he thought. "She's working too hard, poor child, and all alone here, without a friend... Good thing she has me, and not some other fellow... an innocent, trusting girl like that!"

CHAPTER 30.

"I'm getting so I just loathe art school!" Crystal told Ralph. And for once she spoke the truth.

This morning was particularly awful. She was trying to draw a foot. A silly, plaster foot. And why anyone wanted to draw feet was something Crystal couldn't understand. Heads were her specialty. Heads of pretty ladies, with flowers in their hair. Though she didn't mind sketching in a figure with shoes on, and hands hidden out of sight.

Art School! This was no more like the stories she had read about art school, then that charcoal smudge on her paper was like the ugly plaster foot on the pedestal.

Where were the ray parties, where were the hand-some men and the life classes, and the sketching expeditions? Oh yes, they had life classes, but you couldn't join them until you had had charcoal, and plaster casts, and you couldn't go sketching until you had elementary drawing—and who wants to be bothered with that?

"What have I got out of this? Nothing? Not even any parties. If it hadn't been for Avery Woodward I wouldn't have had any art life at all. This is no fun!" she thought disconsolately. "I'll go crazy if I have to do this much longer... I can't draw that foot! I'm too artistic to do ugly things like that... I wish I hadn't fallen out with Avery, he understood me... I could learn more from him in five minutes... he knows how I feel about color, and line, and drawing from life..."

She chewed on her eraser, lost in thought.

Miss Tomkinson, the teacher, came and looked at her drawing. "Oh, Miss Grey—this is all wrong!" she cried. And then with her crooked bit of charcoal she made black lines on Crystal's drawing, ruining it completely.

With a smothered oath, Crystal tore it off the board and crumpled it into a ball which she threw on the floor, and trampled under her shorn, high heel.

Miss Tomkinson, a tall, elderly woman with a mop of frizzy gray hair, watched her. "Really," she drawled, "you must cultivate patience. Patience, to an artist—"

"Artist!" Crystal hissed through clenched teeth. "You look like an artist, you do! If you're not, I don't want to be one. And I don't want to draw any more bunyon ads, and I won't either. So there!"

Two or three turned and looked at her, but no one paid much attention. With a contemptuous "Tut, tut," Miss Tomkinson turned away. "That's good," she said to the little Italian girl at the next easel. "Solendid feeling!"

"Feeling! For a foot! Crystal washed her dirty hands, and went home."

But it was lonely in the apartment. Lonely and quiet. She turned on the radio and tried to read. That was worse. How do people live without excitement?

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The oil stocks and the "Blue Chip" Industrials led the whole market in a sharp rally at the beginning of trading today. Nobody worried over the $511,000,000 increase in brokers' loans in November as reported by the New York stock exchange after the close of yesterday's market. It was expected that the big November upswing in stocks would need lubrication in the form of more and more bank credit, and the showing of a $5,300,000,000 speculative "rush" took nobody's breath away.

Pools in the high-priced specialties had no difficulty in running up the prices of Radio, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, etc., 5 to 19 points. These stocks are under the most perfect control, and in many cases their market mover are dictated by the pools and professionals. Radio climbed to 28 1/4 and Chrysler Motor was in demand above 120, up 4 points.

The most colorful of all "prosperity bulletins" was looked for in Calvin Coolidge's annual address to congress, released during the day, everything looked rosy to Wall Street, from a business standpoint, and stock traders who threw their stocks on the market yesterday were buying them back today, in most cases at higher prices.

during the month of November, according to the report issued today by the Pottery Savings & Loan company, depository for the schools of this district.

Lady Moon in Flirtatious Mood

Here are two remarkable photos of the moon's eclipse as the phenomenon appeared to New Yorkers. The tall-spined Gothic temple in the foreground is the Woolworth building.

Strength without hilarity best describes the market in the first hour. Stock sales in the first 30 minutes were less than in yesterday's 4,484, 600-share day, which appeared to show that Wall Street has for the time being gotten over its speculative spree, and was settling back to a sane basis once more.

PERFECT—beyond all belief is this amazing SOUND picture.

A thousand voices in a swelling chorus of entrancing melody. The thunder of ten thousand hoofs—the crack of cruel whips—the fierce cries of charging horsemen. The wild bells of warning—the volleys of musketry—the shouts of the mob—the fatal ticking of the clock. A musical score without parallel in motion picture history—

ALL THIS YOU HEAR AS YOU SEE!

It would be best for patrons to come so as to witness the beginning of the picture—thus seen it is much more satisfactory.
